beddinghouse

Bedding House is a Dutch family business in bed and bath linens. It was founded in 1978. Quality fabrics, and a passion for storytelling and innovation, are the inspiration behind Bedding House designs. Much like how Moooi designs elicit the extra 'O' from onlookers, Bedding House products contain creative shapes, colours, and patterns that aim for that 'wow' factor. Sharing mutual values about quality and sustainability, the synergy between Moooi and Bedding House resulted in the luxury Extinct Animals bedding collection.

Moooi presents

EXTINCT ANIMALS

Since the dawn of the human era, a great sense of adventure tempted humankind to go on risky adventures in search of new worlds. Explorers who kept going and survived the dangers along the way found breathtaking new worlds.

Some set out with a purpose. They would seek a golden treasure or the fountain of youth. Their youthful dreams fuelled by a great desire for a life filled with adventure and excitement. They eventually found great treasures for humanity: alluring animals that were never seen before.

When they returned, they told stories about exotic worlds and unique animals. Birds the colours of the rainbow, cute smiling creatures hanging from tree branches, almost magical sea creatures, and much more.

The stories about the animals became an endless source of inspiration for talented artists. Driven to recreate these animals, they put pen to paper and made drawings of these magical creatures.

THE MUSEUM OF EXTINCT ANIMALS

Moooi sailed away on a bold adventure. What they found was a true treasure trove from the past; the artists' rare drawings of animals that went extinct. The unique drawings of these Extinct Animals were made available by museums from all over the world. Enchanted by ten brilliant extinct animal drawings, Moooi created designs inspired by the animals' unique characteristics, including the luxury Extinct Animals bedding collection.

Slumber in a plumage of serene softness

The Dodo Pavone's natural outfit was a grey, white and blue plumage and a cute pompom at the tail. Inspired by these traits, the Dodo Pavone Bedding resembles the soft and gentle characteristics of this friendly extinct animal.

EMBROIDERED FLYING CORAL FISH CUSHION

European sailors first spotted the Flying Coral Fish in the Caribbean Sea, believing it to result from a spell. Only sorcery could explain a fish with wings. Gliding as high as six meters above the sea... With enormous eyes, the sailors admired a school of speckled blue-grey fish, creating a rainbow of fine droplets above their heads.

Dreams of poetry and romance

Calligraphy Birds, outfitted in feathers of different blue hues, were often seen dancing to attract a partner. They would sway their tail feathers, resembling calligraphy swirls, as if writing a romantic poem. These unique features are embedded in the Calligraphy Bird Bedding.

EMBROIDERED BLOOMING SEADRAGON CUSHION

Blooming Seadragons were always a mystery. Seeming to appear and disappear in the blink of an eye. Most people believed them to be creatures of ancient myths or imagination. This was probably the result of their camouflage being too good: they went literally unseen.

WHAT MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

- High quality 300 TC cotton satin
- Beautiful finishing
- Chic sheen
- Luxurious look & feel
- Sustainable gift packaging

HIGH QUALITY COTTON SATIN

The Extinct Animals bedding collection comprises sophisticated duvet covers, matching pillows and a bedspread for that little extra touch of comfort in your bedroom.

The duvet covers in the bedding collection are made of high quality cotton satin with a 300 thread count (TC). Cotton is a soft and breathable natural fibre. As the name states, cotton satin is made from cotton. The way it's woven—'satin weave', makes it feel smooth to the touch with a subdued shiny finish.

SOFTER, SMOOTHER, BREATHABLE

A satin weave means the fabric is tightly woven and means more threads. The thread count of a fabric refers the amount of threads used to weave it. The higher the count, the better the quality. The better the quality, the softer and smoother a fabric feels. The cotton used in the Extinct Animals bedding collection has a high thread count but remains light-weight and breathable for optimal airflow that helps with a good night's rest.

THE FINISHING TOUCHES

Besides high quality materials, the Extinct Animals bedding collection stands out because of its original and luxurious finishes. Think embroidery on silk, cord piping, oxford borders, beautiful buttons, and luxurious zippers. The Extinct Animals bedding collection gives you the finishing touches that makes your bedroom the most inviting space in your home.
